Gallery Tour 2021

Many events are tentative due to the pandemic; it's best to check ahead of time to make sure they're still going on as planned, especially before visiting any of the in-person events on this list.

Artist Reception: Monday, March 1, 3–6 p.m.

Young's Art Center

22084 Lorain Rd., Fairview Park, Ohio 44126 • 216.370.2414 • Chris Young, YoungsArtCenter.com

Hours: Call for details

Wire works with Chris Young, March 1–11, 2021. Chris Young's mixed media works include sculpture, relief work and textured paintings. Wire is a wonderfully malleable medium with endless possibilities. This exhibition focuses on Young's small to medium works as a linear interpretation, a sort of 3D sketch capturing the essence of a subject leaving the viewer to fill in the blanks.

Artist Reception: Thursday, March 4, 5–7 p.m.

Amoré Gallery

2171 Murray Hill Rd., Cleveland, Ohio 44106 • 440.478.9377 • Kate Geraci, bkate364@yahoo.com • amoregallerycleveland.com

Hours: By appointment

Kate Geraci / Reflections of Light: New works by Cleveland artist, Kate Geraci, explore the inner light as a working woman artist during these unprecedented times. March 4–19, 2021.

Facebook Live event with Judy Takács, every Thursday, 6 p.m.

Living Figuratively with your host, Judy Takács • Judy Takács, judytakacs@me.com

Facebook page: Judy Takács, artist: <https://facebook.com/JudyTakacs> or

YouTube Chanel: Judy Takács https://youtube.com/channel/UC0DgpYxGVS0-vvrQ4SUkGJg?view_as=subscriber

Living Figuratively is the show that asks the question, Why NOT fill your home with the fascinating faces and figures of people you don't even know? Why NOT fill your home with figurative art? Each week, Judy Takács spotlights her own work, work from her collection or takes the show on the road to Cleveland art shows, always with a spotlight on figurative art. For the Month of March, she'll be focusing specifically on figurative art by women artists.

Artist Reception: Friday, March 5, 4–7 p.m.

Artisans' Corner Gallery

11110 Kinsman Rd., Newbury, Ohio 44065 • 440.739.4128 • Monica Glasscock, artisanscornergallery@gmail.com • artisanscornergallery.com

Hours: Tuesday – Saturday, 10 a.m. – 4 p.m.

Powerful Voices: Joy Ingram, Mary Ann Sedivy, Emily Joyce, KC Henry, Jeanne Fashempour, Kristin Pierre, Betty Wittlinger, Margaret Khairallah, Marge Pauls, and gallery manager Monica Glasscock. March 2–31, 2021.

Celebrating the powerful voice of women! Newbury, Ohio is steeped in Women's history, home of the South Newbury Union Chapel. One of the oldest women's suffrage groups in the United States, The South Newbury Women's Suffrage Political Club, was organized at the chapel. Often called the "Free Speech Chapel" and "Cradle of Equal Suffrage," the chapel played an important role in the struggle for women's right to vote. Susan B. Anthony gave many of her speeches on women's suffrage there.

Artist Reception: Friday, March 5, 6–9 p.m. (TBD whether online only or in-person and online)

The Gallery at Praxis Fiber Workshop

15301 Waterloo Rd., Cleveland, Ohio 44110 • gallery@praxisfiberworkshop.org • praxisfiberworkshop.org

Hours: Wednesdays & Sundays, Noon – 4 p.m. or by appointment

Tradewinds: Solo Exhibition by H. Mitsu Shimabukuro, March 5 – April 30, 2021.

The show seeks to create space for the complexity of overlapping identities, using the structure of weaving and dyeing processes to merge Shimabukuro's experiences as biracial and queer.

Artist Reception: Friday, March 5, 4–8 p.m. and Saturday, March 6, Noon – 5 p.m.

Uncommon Art

134 N. Main St., Hudson, Ohio 44236 • 234.284.9019 • uncommonarthudson@gmail.com • uncommonarthudson.com

Hours: Tuesday – Saturday, 10 a.m. – 5 p.m.

Mixing It Up: Mixed Media Art by Women: Mixing It Up showcases mixed media art by Northeast Ohio women artists. These artists frequently use materials traditionally identified as feminine: fashion magazines, fabric, thread, books - and use them to create compelling works of art. March 5–27, 2021.

Beyond Surface: Denise Buckley and Kathy M. Skerritt, February 5 – March 27, 2021.

On the surface, the work of Denise Buckley and Kathy M. Skerritt seems very different. Appearances, however, can be deceiving. Buckley, a welder and figurative sculptor, and Skerritt, an abstract process painter, share a technical mastery, and the ability to show beyond what is seen. By pushing their materials to the limit, both artists unearth the inner essence of their subjects, and find meaning in themselves. This February, the Artists Archives of the Western Reserve is pleased to host Beyond Surface: Denise Buckley & Kathy M. Skerritt, an exhibition which welcomes the artists into the museum's prestigious 10,000-piece collection of regional art.

Artist as Healer and Advocate: Susan Ross, Kathy M. Skerritt, Diane Pinchot. March 5–31, 2021.

"Beauty will save the world." So much has been written about Dostoevsky's statement through the years. In this exhibition of Artist As healer and Advocate at Article Gallery during Women's History Month, it is evident that this quotation has taken root in their images. While expressing the qualities of the transcendentals of truth, goodness and beauty in the artwork, their process and content, not always pleasant, helps us reflect on the artists yearnings for the wellbeing of all.

Found in Dostoevsky's notes concerning beauty, were also notes concerning suffering. He believed suffering was the origin of consciousness and Beauty was never separated from truth and goodness. With these artists exploration of the transcendental truths, it is an affirmation of their creative experience and it allows the viewer to share in their journey. The art then has the ability to become the agent of healing and truth telling for the good of those brave enough to gaze into the heart of these images.

January 31 – March 28, 2021.

Virtual Artist Panel Talk - TBD (Will be announced on our social media when date is set.)

Curated by Cleveland Print Room's Strategic Director Shari Wilkins, "Displaced: Cairo, An American City" investigates and responds to the racial inequities and misguided political/economic policies and their long-term impact on Cairo, Illinois, a microcosm of an American city. This project engages viewers as they witness the city's slow decline through the consequences of racism and capitalism. Photographs of Cairo are core to this exhibition, along with paintings, mixed media, and performance art featuring an oral history piece by a Cairo native and lifelong resident. Samantha Schneider Fine Art, Samantha Schneider, samyrandomness1@gmail.com • samfineart.com/lollipop

Lollipop: Lollipop is a show based on a linear narrative which follows Lollita (Lollipop), a stripper working for a night club owned by Zike Sray, a man of power responsible for murder, drug production, and all around dirty deals within the district. Lollita is a stripper, or at least for the past few months that's what she's been made to believe. This life she's living is not her reality. Who was she before this? These works unravel her life, who she is, who she was and what she is becoming.

This show pairs both painting and film in an intense story of action, emotion, corruption and discovery of self. A sci-fi cinema reality in which I am the main character, creating other versions of myself I deeply desire to be more like. Seen as powerful, important, and alluring. Not powerful or important in the sense of wealth or fame. The roles I play as "myself" are normally those in positions of lower class struggle. But all tend to possess something that makes them unique and powerful. I play all roles as model/actor, camera operator, editor and painter. In my practice I find it important that I am in full control both internally in my world and externally for the production of my world.

Cat Swartz is a sculptor, illustrator, painter, photographer, printmaker, dollmaker, and jewelry designer.

Cat's personal work embraces fantasy, nature, folklore, new mythologies, environmental conservation, veganism, dreams/nightmares, experiences, and her imagination.

She designs infusions of creatures and subjects in deep symbolisms and oftentimes touches darker subject matters to create something that may be familiar to viewers at first impression before a closer look. These curiosities coax the viewers to stretch their imagination and open their minds to new perspectives.
